Internships in New Zealand - Where Education meets Adventure

Pim Vis

Room: Galaxy 2

Audience: Providers

► Session description

An internship is a two-way-street learning experience for individuals to develop hands on work experience in a certain occupational field.

Students lend their talents to companies in return for an opportunity to develop business skills and gain exposure to the work environment. Many internship programs compensate interns financially, either by a retainer, pocket money, through paid board and lodging and a grant towards travel cost, or through a combination of these. Students receive "real world" business experience and an early opportunity to impress potential employers, without a large financial investment.

The Benefits of Interns to Companies: More Than Coffee and Copies Students are highly capable of contributing all kinds of business value. Interns can help a company do more. For example, using students' technology expertise and applied classroom learning to support marketing efforts, operational needs, and business intelligence work for clients and partners.

Expand the knowledge and skills of a student on a Professional Internship in New Zealand StudyNewZealand.eu carefully matches internship students with employers in New Zealand so the student can gain experience in their field of study to the benefit of both parties.

► Speaker

Pim Vis
StudyNewZealand.eu
New Zealand

Pim Vis works in the field of international education and student mobility, in various combinations, including student recruiter, internship mediator and Education consultant.

Since 2007 he has been an auditor/inspector for the government Education Inspectorate and the Knowledge Centre for Exams in Amersfoort. He also advises institutions in the field of examinations and the inspections framework, as well as on off shore campuses, exchange programs and internationalisation. Mr Vis was previously Head of the International Office at the University of The Hague.

He has recruited students for institutions in various European countries. Now his focus is on recruiting students and interns for New Zealand. His company StudyNewZealand.eu has recruitment representatives in 18 European countries and 4 non-European countries.

IATC and EATC online agent training courses - an overview

Paula Dunstan & Markus Badde

Room: Galaxy 3

Audience: Agents

► Session description

An overview of how the IATC (ICEF Agent Training Course) and the Australian EATC (Education Agent Training Course) help improve and professionalise agency counsellor practices.

The IATC (ICEF Agent Training Course) is a practical, professional training course developed by ICEF for education agency-based student counsellors which was launched in May 2010. The course is available online and free of charge to agency student counsellors in a self-paced modular format.

After taking the training course, agents have the possibility to sit an official assessment at all ICEF Workshops or online. Participants who complete the IATC assessment successfully will be issued a certificate, certifying them as ICEF Trained Agent Counsellors (ITAC). Agencies with at least one ITAC on their staff will be featured in an agency locator on ICEF's website.

The EATC (Education Agent Training Course) is an agent training course aimed at agents sending students to Australia. The main purpose of the EATC is to provide these agents with information about the Australian education system and Australia as a study destination, as well as education quality assurance issues and the Australian visa regulation system.

This session will introduce the IATC and the EATC, their contents, and how to access these training courses and tests.

After that, Markus held various senior marketing positions over eight years at Cisco Systems, the world leader in Internet networking. Before re-joining ICEF in 2004, Markus spent two years as Business Development Director at ICWE GmbH, organizer of events such as StudyWorld, Expolingua Berlin and Prague, the EAIE Exhibition, as well as E-learning Africa and Online Educa Berlin, the largest international e-learning conference. He is a member of NAFSA, the EAIE and other international associations, and speaks regularly on topics related to international education. Markus speaks seven languages fluently and is at home nearly anywhere in the world.

Towards Higher Standards for Agents: A Non-Regulatory Approach

Maurene Horder

Room: Galaxy 1

Audience: Agents, Australian Providers

► Session description

The February 2010 Baird Review of the Education Services for Overseas Students (ESOS) Act 2000 found “the lack of a peak body for Education Agents” a significant impediment to public confidence and stakeholder engagement. Whilst amendments have been made to address issues in Australia’s international education, a gap still remains in the regulatory framework overseeing the Education Agent marketplace.

A recent initiative by the Migration Institute of Australia (MIA) to extend Affiliate Membership to qualified Education Agents seeks to address the concerns raised by Baird, by developing and maintaining professional standards, ethics and conduct for the industry.

The MIA currently acts as the professional association for over 2200 Registered Migration Agents (RMAs) in Australia, a quarter of whom also work in the international education recruitment sector.

MIA Chief Executive Officer, Ms Maurene Horder, will address:

- How the establishment of a peak body for Education Agents will benefit the international education industry
- Regulatory developments within the marketplace
- How lessons learnt from the migration advice profession can develop and enhance the international student recruitment sector

► Speaker

Maurene Horder
CEO,
Migration Institute of Australia,
Australia

Maurene Horder has been Chief Executive Officer of the Migration Institute of Australia (MIA) since 2008.

She has held senior management positions in the public and private sector across a diverse range of industries prior to joining the MIA, including nine years as Chief Executive Officer of the Council of Australian Governments (COAG) body the National Marine Safety Committee (NMSC). During her stewardship, significant reforms to maritime safety regulations were achieved.

A former teacher, Horder entered politics in the 1980s and became Minority Leader of the Australian Capital Territory (ACT) House of Assembly.

She worked as a Ministerial Consultant in ethnic affairs and is a former Chair of Commonwealth Accommodation and Catering Services, which managed Australia’s migrant centres prior to their privatisation.

Horder has also served on a wide range of community boards and committees, including Alzheimer’s Association NSW and the Child Accident Prevention Foundation.

International Student Trends across the Five Main English Speaking Destination Countries

Paresh Kevat

Room: Galaxy 2

Audience: Providers

► Session description

According to the OECD, 3.7 million tertiary students enrolled outside their country of citizenship in 2009 of which 42% enrolled to study in one the five Main English Speaking Destination countries: Australia, New Zealand, the United States, United Kingdom and Canada.

International education exports have become a significant part of each country's economy, as international students generate an economic activity far beyond enrolment fees.

This session will:

- provide an overview of the current international student trends in Australia, New Zealand and the key competitor countries, USA, United Kingdom and Canada,
- examine key events, impacts and challenges currently facing these countries, such as immigration policy, the Global Financial Crisis and increased global competition.
